“ My heart goes out to Charles’s family, friends, and his Tavern family. I was Charles’s neighbor. He was such a thoughtful, kind, and pleasant young man who always said “how are ya mama” every time he saw me. I remember the stone sculpture he built in his yard and told him how it added a bit of culture to the neighborhood, he liked that. I pray he found peace and hope that all who knew him cherish the moments he touched their lives.
